

Instant Beauty

Beauty is a thing of Life, God, not of matter. When, at the same moment you know yourself as an instrument of God, you also “love the good and beautiful and their immortality,” (S&H) you are at a pinnacle of divine Science. A pinnacle in Science is a point where an exchange occurs. Thought aligns with divine revelation. It’s called demonstration -- sense material replaced with spiritual idea.

At that moment the exchange is no longer one material object for another. And solely material desires retreat. The pinnacle reached is as “harp strings of Love” identified as Love’s instruments which God beautifies.

Loving as Love loves is oneness called heaven on earth. There is no deterioration, aging, accident, self-depreciation, nor fear in or about an instrument of God, Spirit. It is always beautiful.

What changes is one’s perception. Less and less negatives regarding an identifier become evident. To love the good and beautiful because God loves them purifies complexion, removes images of wrinkles, establishes a sense of immortality, gives a confident outlook, and adds joy to appearance.

To know as God knows is the perfect makeover. Now, you should feel uplifted, loved, and altogether refreshed with the Pison point of view.

The highest form of beauty and goodness is body as “idea of Life, substance, and intelligence; superstructure of Truth; shrine of Love.” (S&H) Nature’s form of body is wonderful. It is not physical.

Being clear! A change occurs the moment real body is recognized and accepted. Loving that body is the highest point of the good and beautiful and its immortality.

You must handle foul aspersions. Whatever limits spiritual reality must be denied and put out of thought. A foul aspersion on body once denied, simply falls away by its own weight. Thank God for that!!

Note: The River Pison is explained on page 593 of S&H.
